

Common Word Mix-Ups

1. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "Their going to meet you at the capitol square before your tour of the museum begins."

- Replace "capitol" with "capital".
- Replace "Their" with "They're".
- No corrections are needed.
- Replace "your" with "you're".

2. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "If you're planning a vacation, consider visiting the desert for a unique experience, except during the scorching summer months."

- Replace "except" with "accept"
- Replace "you're" with "your".
- Replace "desert" with "dessert".
- No corrections are needed.

3. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "If you're ever in doubt about your abilities, remember that everyone has their strengths, and it's essential to accept yourself rather than compare yourself to others."

- Replace "their" with "there".
- Replace "you're" with "your".
- Replace "then" with "than".
- Replace "accept" with "except".

4. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "They're going on the train tour first and than to the zoo to see the new desert exhibit."

- Replace "they're" with "their".
- Replace "desert" with "dessert".
- Replace "than" with "then".
- Replace "they're" with "there".

5. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "They're planning a trip to the capital city to except their award for the best dessert recipe."

- Replace "except" with "accept".
- Replace "dessert" with "desert".
- Replace "They're" with "Their'."
- Replace "capital" with "capitol".

6. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "If you want to have a thrilling experience, except the challenge of climbing the capitol building; you'll see more of the city than you ever have before!"

- No corrections are needed.
- Replace "than" with "then".
- Replace "capitol" with "capital".
- Replace "except" with "accept".

7. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "You're going to see many historical documents in the capital building, and then you'll meet with the mayor."

- Replace "you're" with "your".
- No corrections are needed.
- Replace "then" with "than".
- Replace "capital" with "capitol".

8. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "They're hosting a celebration in the desert, featuring traditional dances and mouth watering desserts to showcase there unique culture."

- Replace "They're" with "There".
- Replace "there" with "their".
- Replace "desert" with "dessert".
- Replace "dessert" with "desert".

9. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "They're planning to have a picnic in the park near there house, so don't forget to bring your favorite snacks and games to enjoy together."

- Replace "They're" with "Their".
- Replace "there" with "their".
- No corrections are needed.
- Replace "your" with "you're".

10. Read the following sentence and determine which homophone needs to be corrected. "In the bustling capital city, they're preparing for the grand opening of the new museum, and your invited to witness the historic event."

- Replace "your" with "you're".
- Replace "they're" with "there"
- Replace "they're" with "their".
- Replace "capital" with "capitol".